17. Restrictive Covenants set forth in Exhibit C to this Deed.

EXHIBIT CRestriction Against Condominium

The Property shall hereafter be held, transferred, sold, leased and encumbered, conveyed, and occupied, subject to the covenants, indemnities, conditions, and restrictions set forth in numbered paragraphs 1 through 8 immediately following (collectively, the “Restrictive Covenants”), each of which is for, and shall inure to the benefit of Grantor or its then-applicable successor or assign (each, the “Benefited Person”):

1. Until the date that is the last day of the one hundred twentieth (120th) month after the date this Deed is recorded (the “Expiration Date”), the Grantee shall be prohibited from converting all or any portion of the Property from residential apartment units to “for sale” residential condominium units (i.e. sub-condominium units) without the prior written consent of Grantor, which shall be granted or withheld within 60 days of written request from Grantee. A failure by Grantor to respond within such 60 day period shall be deemed a granting of consent to the request on the 60th day. Any such conversion shall be deemed to have occurred at the time of the recordation of appropriate instruments pursuant to the North Carolina Condominium Act (the “Condominium Conversion”). Such recorded instruments shall, except as reasonably necessary to memorialize the fact that the applicable consent has been provided (deemed or otherwise) by Grantor, or as may otherwise be required by law, contain no reference to Grantor or any affiliate thereof.

2. In the event of the violation or breach of any of the Restrictive Covenants, the Benefited Person shall have the right to prosecute a proceeding at law or in equity against the party or parties who have violated or are attempting to violate any of the Restrictive Covenants, to enjoin or prevent them without bond from doing so, to cause such violation to be remedied, including without limitation, court costs and attorney fees in enforcing the Restrictive Covenants. Without limiting the foregoing, any party or parties who now or hereafter owns or acquires fee title in or to any portion of the Property shall, and does hereby, to the fullest extent permitted by law, indemnify, defend and hold the Benefited Person harmless from and against any and all liabilities, damages, losses, claims, causes of action, suits, demands, charges, complaints, costs and expenses (including, without limitation, attorneys' fees and costs of litigation), which the Benefited Person may suffer, incur or be obligated to perform but only to the extent arising out of such party's or parties' breach or failure to strictly comply with the Restrictive Covenants, including, without limitation, all liabilities, damages, losses, claims, causes of action, suits, demands, charges, complaints, costs and expenses arising or accruing as a result of any claims by subsequent owners of any portion of the Property (including owners of condominium units or owners of a cooperative, as the case may be) relating to (a) the development, design and construction of the Property and any defects, breaches of contract, errors, omissions, or negligence in connection therewith, or (b) any omissions, misrepresentations or misstatements in any conversion, condominium or cooperative documents, or (c) any other liabilities that Grantor could be responsible for under applicable local law as a result of a Condominium Conversion. All remedies provided herein or at law or in equity shall be cumulative and not exclusive of any other remedy at law or in equity. Notwithstanding anything contained herein to the contrary, no Benefited Person shall have any right of repurchase or reversion as a result of the breach of the Restrictive Covenants.

3. The Restrictive Covenants are appurtenant to and run with the Property, and shall be binding and enforceable against all parties having any right, title or interest in the Property, and their respective heirs, successors and assigns, and shall inure to the benefit of the Benefited Person. Upon expiration of the Term, the Restrictive Covenants shall be of no further force or effect (except with respect to any pending claim hereunder, as the case may be) without the necessity of Grantor or any subsequent Benefited Party having to release the Restrictive Covenants. Except with respect to any pending claim hereunder, as the case may be, any current or prospective owner, lender, title insurer or other party having an interest in the Property may conclusively rely simply upon the expiration of the Term by passage of time only as evidence of the termination of these Restrictive Covenants – i.e., without the need for any instrument signed by any Benefited Person or any other party. Within five (5) Business Days after the Benefited Party's receipt of written request for same, the Benefited Person will provide a certificate listing any then-pending claims or, in the alternative, that there are none known by the Benefited Person. If the Benefited Person has not responded within such period of five (5) Business Days, Grantee (or Grantee's successor, as applicable) may provide the Benefited Person with a second (2nd) notice. Failure by the Benefited Person to respond to the second (2nd) notice within a period of five (5) additional Business Days shall be deemed to result in Benefited Person having confirmed that there are no pending claims hereunder known by the Benefited Person.

4. Failure on the part of any Benefited Person to complain of any act or failure to act to enforce the Restrictive Covenants irrespective of how long such failure continues shall not constitute a waiver by any of the Benefited Persons of the right to strictly enforce any violation of the Restrictive Covenants. Notwithstanding any provision hereof to the contrary, Grantor, in its sole discretion, may elect to waive or terminate any or all of the Restrictive Covenants; provided, however, that, no such waiver or termination shall be effective unless the same is set forth in a writing executed by Grantor and such writing is recorded in the Wake County, North Carolina Public Registry.

5. If any term, covenant, condition or provision of the Restrictive Covenants, or the application thereof to any person, entity or circumstance, shall ever be held to be invalid or unenforceable, then in each such event the remainder of the Restrictive Covenants or the application of such term, covenant, condition or provision to any other person or any other circumstance (other than those as to which it shall be invalid or unenforceable) shall not be thereby affected, and each term, covenant, condition and provision hereof shall remain valid and enforceable to the fullest extent permitted by law.

6. Notwithstanding anything to contrary contained herein, no expiration of the restrictive covenants and no earlier termination of the restrictive covenants shall be deemed to waive or release any party from any prior breach of the Restrictive Covenants.

7. Notwithstanding anything contained in these Restrictive Covenants to the contrary, the mortgagee under any mortgage or the trustee or beneficiary under any deed of trust or deed to secure debt granted by any owner of the Property with respect to the Property (A) shall not be liable for any act or omission or indemnification obligation of such owner or any subsequent owner of the Property set forth in the Restrictive Covenants; (B) shall not be required to execute any assumption or similar agreement in connection with a judicial or non-judicial foreclosure (including a deed-in-lieu of foreclosure); (C) shall have no liability for permitting or consenting to a Condominium Conversion; and (D) shall have no liability for any breach of the Restrictive Covenants beyond its interest in the Property.

8. All notices, requests for consent, demands and communications permitted or required to be given hereunder shall be in writing, and shall be delivered (a) personally, (b) by United States registered or certified mail, postage prepaid, (c) by Federal Express or other reputable courier service regularly providing evidence of delivery (with charges paid by the party sending the notice), or (d) by a (.pdf) or similar attachment to an e-mail. Any such notice to a party shall be addressed at the address set forth below (subject to the right of a party to designate a different address for itself by notice similarly given and subject to the obligation of Grantor to provide the address of any party assigned the rights of Grantor hereunder, as the case may be):
